The political heads, the social heads and, as I told you, the religious heads, all are coming to the realization that spirituality is the only hope. That's the only hope left for the world over. Otherwise, if this atomic war goes on, this world will end. So spirituality is the only hope left for the world over. Not outer forms or rituals or the preparatory steps, not, of course, the elementary, the exoteric side. Those are good actions, of course. But we must take a step further to know Him – to open the inner eye to see the light of God.
